As the claims are directed to a CRT HOLDING device (and not to a CRT itself), it is not properly classifiable in class 313. I would recommend searching in 313/477R for incidental showing of such CRT holding device. Also, the method of manufacturing is also directed to the CRT holding device, accordingly the method claims are not properly classifiable in class 445.

Greetings,

I have an application PG PUB 20020158839 (US 09/936915) which is claiming the CRT structure and a method of manufacturing the structure. I was curious if this case might belong in your area. Also, if your area only does the manufacturing portion---if I restricted the claims would those manufacturing claims being examined in your area. And if you can provide any search areas I would appreciate it.

thanks for your time,
Brian
